Presidents report November 2003

November has been a busy month. This month I had the pleasure of attending a farewell function hosted by the Aggregate and Quarry association for George Cunningham in Hamilton. I felt honoured to be present with Russell Vickers to thank George for his outstanding services to our industry. George will be missed.

While in Hamilton I also attended the AQA board and 2004 conference committee meetings.

A busy few days followed by a meeting of the IOQ board in Dunedin which coincided with an EXITO board retreat.

Our meeting was very successful and we agreed to under take two key projects in the new year. These being recording the history of the IOQ in New Zealand and hosting four industry seminars to cover, Environment, Occupational Health and Safety, Operations and Training.

Our meeting was followed by a local branch meeting sponsored by Goughs.

And my thanks to Fulton Hogan, for hosting our meeting.
