Packed with performance
Aggregates webinar series

During these unprecedented times, we know the importance of staying connected. Having easy access to insightful information and expert advice is key to be able to keep performing at your best. While we may not be able to come to visit you, we certainly want to stay in touch. That's the benefit at the heart of our new webinar series. Please join us by registering for one (or all) of the upcoming sessions. We hope to see you there!

Please note that these sessions will be English only. They are meant to complement local meetings and seminars which are still ongoing.

If you are experiencing any technical issues or have questions regarding the topics, please contact us at aggregates.webinars@metso.com.
